Stockholm, February 22.

THE King returned to Town on the 15th Inſtant in the Evening. His Majeſty went no further than the Town of Abroga, where and at Weſtraas he reviewed ſome Troops of the Regiments of Life-Guards. The ſame Night Count Taube Governour of this City arrived here from Hambourg, as did alſo Baron Degenfeldt from Caſſel. Some Days ago Auditor General Dahlman returned from Petersbourg, and brought Advice, that his Czariſh Majeſty had declared himſelf not only deſirous to ſettle a Cartel for the Exchange of Priſoners, but alſo to conclude a Ceſſation of Arms between the two Kingdoms: And his Swediſh Majeſty being no leſs inclined thereto, has been pleaſed, for negotiating this important Affair with Plenipotentiaries from the Czar, to name and appoint Count Lillienſtedt and Baron Stromfelt to be his Plenipotentiaries: And accordingly they are to go over forthwith to meet the Ruſſian Plenipotentiaries at Neuſtadt near Abo in Finland.

Stockholm, March 1. M. Brandt, Envoy Extraordinary from the King of Pruſſia, arrived here two Days ago. Some Officers of the Court are gone from hence towards Schonen, in order to meet Prince George of Heſſe, his Swediſh Majeſty's younger Brother, and attend him hither: He is expected in ſix or eight Days at furtheſt.

Paris, March 26. The Turkiſh Ambaſſadour had on Sunday laſt, the 23d Inſtant, his Audience of the Duke Regent, to which he was conducted in the following Manner: The Coach of M. de Maupré, Introductor to his Royal Highneſs: A Detachment of the Regiment of Dragoons of Orleans, followed by 36 of the Duke Regent's Footmen: 20 of his Royal Highneſs's Pages on Horſeback, and a great Number of Grooms with Led-Horſes; The Ambaſſadour's Retinue, without Muskets or Lances: The Ambaſſadour himſelf on Horſeback, accompanied by M. de Maupré: A ſecond Detachment of the Regiment of Orleans: The Duke and Dutcheſs of Orleans's Coaches: A third Detachment of the ſame Regiment cloſed the Rear. His Royal Highneſs received the Ambaſſadour in his Gallery, where was a great Concourſe of Perſons of Quality and Diſtinction; and after the Audience he was re-conducted in his Royal Highneſſes's Coach of State to the Hotel of Ambaſſadours, being a little indiſpoſed. To Morrow he is to have his Audience of the Archbiſhop of Cambray as firſt Miniſter of State for Foreign Affairs: After which he will go to ſee the Opera of Theſeus, the Amphitheatre being prepared for him and his Retinue. Several Apartments are fitting up at Verſailles, Marly, and Trianon, whither the Ambaſſadour is to be conducted ſhortly, and where the Water-Works are to play for his Diverſion. The Preſents which the Grand Signior has ſent by this Ambaſſadour to the King, are as follows: Two Horſes of the Iſle of Metelin, one of them having magnificent Furniture; a Mantle of Ermine, 10 Pieces of very rich Gold Stuffs, eight Pieces of Muſlin, ſix Pots of Balſam of Mecca, a Bow, and a Quiver with 60 Arrows. On the 22d Inſtant the King went to Vincennes to review the Troops which came lately hither to appear at the Entry of the Turkiſh Ambaſſadour, and the next Day his Majeſty took the Air in the Eliſian Fields. The Commiſſioners appointed for examining the Memorial which the India Company preſented ſome Time ago to the Duke Regent, againſt the Debt that Company had been charged with on Account of the Bank Notes, have not yet made their Report; but it is generally believed that Report will not be in the Company's Favour, and that the Commiſ-
